OBJECTIVE

I am a Brand and Digital Product Designer practising as Bixel, working across brand identity, product interface design and websites. I design complete engagements — positioning, mark, type and colour system, applications and guidelines — and take them through to product interfaces and hand-built WordPress themes, so a company's brand and its digital experience arrive as one system rather than three handovers. I have delivered seven projects across fintech, AI, commerce, beauty, agriculture and architecture, including a live New York studio website. I am seeking freelance projects, retainers and remote design roles.

EXPERIENCE

Brand & Digital Product Designer (Independent) — Bixel 2020 – Date
Akure, Nigeria (Remote)

- Design brand identities, product interfaces and websites for clients in fintech, AI, commerce, beauty and agriculture.
- Deliver complete engagements — positioning, mark, type and colour system, applications and written guidelines — rather than isolated logo files.
- Build custom WordPress themes by hand, with no page builders and no template licences for the client to renew.
- Design interfaces in every real state — empty, filled, loading, interrupted — so development proceeds without a second round of design.
- Produce design systems and component libraries handed over ready for build.

SELECTED PROJECTS

Trove — Brand identity, art direction, motion 2025
Self-initiated

- Built a complete identity for an institutional digital-asset custody platform bridging decentralised and centralised finance.
- Designed a logomark resolving a lowercase t into a shield, with construction breakdown, type system, palette and an animated mark.
- Extended the system to stationery, merchandise, transit and billboard advertising, app icon and product interface.

UnSPACE — Web design and custom WordPress theme

2026

Architecture and object design studio, New York City

- Rebuilt the studio's site from an unstructured image grid into a navigable archive of fifteen projects, live at unspace.org.
- Split the practice into two named strands — architecture and object design — and tagged every project, giving the studio a stated position rather than an implied one.
- Introduced an indexed work list, individual project pages on real URLs, a studio page and full mobile layouts.
- Designed and hand-built the WordPress theme.

Vyptelabs — Brand identity and digital design

2026

Infrastructure company

- Designed an identity built on two overlapping V-forms with a darker intersection, holding at app-icon size without relying on gradient.
- Applied the system across website, product interface, app icon, social, merchandise and environmental advertising.

いちごAI / Strawberry AI — Product design

2026

Japanese-language mobile assistant for strawberry growers

- Designed twenty screens for growers working one-handed in the field, with voice-first work logging as the primary input and typing as fallback.
- Designed a LINE account-linking flow that states the record count, date range and what is explicitly not read, so existing users migrate without losing their history.
- Added AI-generated summaries to every log entry to keep months of records scannable.

Lumena AI — Brand identity and product design

2025 – 2026

AI assistant

- Designed identity and a nineteen-screen mobile product in every interface state, enabling build without a second round of design.
- Replaced an onboarding walkthrough with tappable suggested prompts, teaching first-time AI users by letting them succeed immediately.

SkinTrove — Brand identity and campaign

2025

Skincare curation brand

- Designed an interlocking ST monogram in which the T's stem doubles as the S's spine, working as a small seal on packaging.
- Delivered wordmark, palette, pattern system, art direction and launch campaign material.

Klásico — Rebrand and brand identity

2026

Fashion label

- Designed a display wordmark carrying a crescent and a four-point star inside the letterforms, so the ornament scales with the type rather than competing with it.
- Extended the identity across apparel, woven labelling and stationery.
